Wireless Metering

Wireless Strategy

Using the latest in wireless technology, product dispensed is clocked up automatically, live, and compared to sales. All information is sent Wirelessly to the back office. Discrepancies are reported by product, time, bar, and waiter.

Draught

The draught flowmeters will count each pint dispensed and compare with sales to highlight discrepancies which will be detected as they occur without having to wait for periodic stocktakes and historical information.

Freepour

The pourspout is the smallest and most powerful wireless liquor dispenser on the market. It provides quick and precise dispensing of programmable pour sizes. All dispense information is sent WIRELESSLY back to the office for comparison with sales information where any variance is reported.

Optic

We monitor shots dispensed from optics simply by replacing the support behind the spirit bottle with a support which houses an RFID chip. All shots are recorded and the information sent WIRELESSLY to the back office for comparison with sales.

All our wireless metering products are simple to install and do not interfere with existing work practice. They control stocks and minimize the need for expensive stocktakes.
